Researcher. Designer. Gamer.

Nice to meet you! I'm Meg.

I recently graduated with my Masters from the University of Michigan's School of Information, specializing in Human-Computer Interaction. My undergraduate degree is from Michigan State University, where I majored in Chinese and Secondary Education. Working as a teacher has not only given me people-skills necessary for user research, but also the knowledge of educational psychology which gives me insights into design principles.

I recently finished up a year-long internship with Glu Mobile as a UX researcher. I'm looking for contract or full-time (!?) work while sending my résumé off into the great abyss. If you think a quirky fencer like me would mesh well with your culture, please reach out! If anything, I'd love to nerd out about UX with a fellow UXer.
